

To Whoever this may concern,
In my opinion, I believe there is no reason why there should be a dispute about dropping XM's traffic and weather channels. They are informative and accurate. If I decide to travel across the US I would like to be able to turn to my XM station that allows me to hear the traffic and weather if Im not familar with the area. I receive this information ASAP. Why wait and try to find an FM station to get the information, half the time they are not accurate. What XM provides is harmless to their listeners. They provide the service, we pay for it and we want to get the most we can for our money. So just please leave this situation alone. Have the government worry about other more important topics, like dropping the gas prices.

Walter Kukawski